

MIAMI EDITION

FLORIDA DESIGN

THE GREAT OUTDOORS

Furniture, Accessories & Pool Extras for Life Alfresco

Inside...

GARDEN STYLE
Green Advice From
Miami's Landscape Pros

| BUZZ |

COMPILED BY LUIS R. RIGUAL

SOLID BOND

KELLY WEARSTLER
DELIVERS A
NEW VISION
FOR ARCA'S
NUDO COLLECTION

ABOVE: Designer Kelly Wearstler with the Nudo Collection's low-profile coffee table

LEFT: The Nudo lounge chair features flowing, parallel curves to create a sculptural, liquid-like silhouette.

Revealed during Miami Art Week this past December, the second release of the Nudo Collection by Kelly Wearstler for Arca introduces seven new designs to the popular line. Like its predecessor, Nudo 2.0 reinterprets traditional weaving techniques with bold knot motifs that bring interlaced geometries to life, but this time, Wearstler's stone of choice is onyx. "The collection's interplay of light and shadow ensures that each piece takes on a dynamic and ever-changing character, reflecting the surroundings and offering a new perspective from every angle," says Wearstler. "Additionally, the line highlights Arca's expertise in marrying high technology with artisanal finishes, crafting pieces that merge nature's beauty with human ingenuity." The line is available at Arca's Design District showroom. arcaaww.com; kellywearstler.com

ABOVE: Embodying the undulating movements common to weaving, the Nudo end tables' shape was inspired by the look of interconnected yarns.

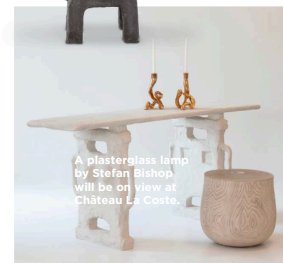

SWEET MYSTERY The new Primal Mystery collection by Ralph Pucci is the first standalone in-house assemblage the brand has released in more than 10 years. Characterized by its earthy character, the line pays homage to the "studio's long-standing heroes from the worlds of sculpture and painting," as namesake Ralph Pucci puts it. Said list includes Alberto Giacometti, Constantin Brancusi, Joan Miró, Paul Klee, Amedeo Modigliani, and Ernst Ludwig Kirchner. The 15 pieces, which include everything from a floor lamp to a wall-mounted console, are made primarily of plaster glass with additional materials such as mosaic, bronze, stone, and terracotta. "Primal Mysteries is a coming together of the many inspirations and ideas that have influenced us over the years," says Pucci. "Each piece feels like it was dug from the earth, the right antidote to our high-tech, AI world." The collection is available through the Ralph Pucci showroom in Wynwood. ralphpucci.com

Lunar pendant from the Primal Mystery collection by Ralph Pucci

LEFT AND BELOW: The Primal Mystery collection's Scarf dining table and Scarf console both feature a mix of plaster glass and marble.

A plaster glass lamp by Stefan Blishop will be on view at Château La Costa.

PHOTOS COURTESY OF BRANDS